The 2019 Rhode Island Law Day Program, to be held on Friday, May 3, 2019, Free Speech, Free Press, Free Society, will explore how free speech and free press are prominent topics in public discourse and litigation, as historical and current debates continually challenge us to consider their boundaries and resilience. Changes in technology have reshaped how free speech and free press work in the everyday world. This topic allows us explore these freedoms by probing their history and considering their future. Students can relate freedom of speech to how they interact on social media, school dress codes, and even bullying.

Only classroom programs for up to 60 students per class* are offered, and only three classroom programs are available per school. Assemblies are not offered. If you need to request a different date than the May 3rd program, please contact Kathleen at kbridge@ribar.com before submitting this form, as there is limited availability to do so.

Note the time(s) of your classroom program (s) and how many students are participating.*
