Rhode Island Family Court can be overwhelming if you are not familiar with it. During this convenient one-day format, experienced practitioners and members of the judiciary will walk you through a divorce case and share tips regarding ethics and civility, conducting client interviews, designing fee agreements handling discovery, preparing witnesses and negotiating support or alimony agreements.

One of the most challenging portions of a divorce is the issue of custody and visitation. You will receive suggestions on how to devise agreements that will work for your clients and their families. You will also learn how to determine equitable distribution and alimony.

The speakers will discuss divorce mediation and the role of the mediator, update you on recent Rhode Island cases that have changed procedures or practice, and discuss how to recognize and resolve ethical issues that arise in almost every divorce case. You will also be updated on all requirements for electronic filing of cases and documents in Family Court.

This Practical Skills program is designed for new attorneys and attorneys new to family law. It will be a nuts and bolts session that will prepare you for your first experiences with the legal ramifications of domestic discord; it is also a great way for seasoned practitioners to learn best practice tips which will enhance their practice.
