This special program will bring you together with members of the judiciary and their court clerks. You will learn what the judges look for when you are presenting demonstrative evidence, how they feel about technology in the courtroom and the best way to prepare for your courtroom presentation. They will discuss both the business and the special and formal calendars along with case presentation tips for both bench and jury trials.

The court clerks have a special role in the courtroom. They will share their tips to help you organize, plan and present your case, and discuss what they can and can't do for you. They will also review some of the common errors attorneys make that may impede the progress of a case in the court.

This is a unique opportunity to spend a few hours off the bench with members of our Superior Court. Take advantage of this chance to ask the judges what they see as the most effective presentation of your case in their courtrooms. Lawyers from all levels of experience will benefit from this insightful discussion.
