The Top Ten Client Complaints

1.0 RICLE ethics credit

SPEAKER

DAVID D. CURTIN, ESQ. Chief Disciplinary Counsel, RI Supreme Court

No one likes to receive a letter from the Disciplinary Counsel's office. And no one wants a client so dissatisfied that they feel they must file a complaint. But these things happen. At this session, we will take a look at the common complaints filed at the Office of the Disciplinary Counsel and discuss ways you can guard against them. Attend today and avoid a future problem. There are better ways to spend your time.

Warning Signs of Fraud

1.0 RICLE credit

SPEAKERS

FRANK DELUCA, CPA, MST, CFE, PFS Piccerelli, Gilstein & Company, LLP

LAURA DAFONSECA, CPA, MST, CFD, CFF, CDFA Piccerelli, Gilstein & Company, LLP

According to the Association of Certified Fraud Examiners, 31% of all occupational frauds are committed against small businesses having less than 100 employees and typically lasts for 18 months before being detected. In this session, the speakers will examine the subtle (and not-so-subtle) warning signs that fraud is afoot and will discuss preventive controls to minimize exposure. It is designed for attorneys as advisors to small business owners as well as attorneys as business owners themselves.
